Rivers, lakes and canals lace Holland with ribbons of blue that run through low flat fields of green studded with restored traditional windmills and picturesque towns. You're a fan of cycling, and Holland river cruises do not disappoint! Paths along the waterways invite you tie up, grab the bike and explore Elburg, Joure and Akkrum, to name a few of the places where you plan to go! This itinerary is achievable in 7 nights but requires an average of 6hrs of cruising time per day. If you want to take more time to visit the many waterside locations, please consider taking a 10+ nights vacation for an easier pace. Alternatively, you can also choose not to take the loop to Amsterdam, saving approximately 10hrs of cruising time. Vinkeveen area: Some navigation restrictions applies between Oct 16th & 31st, 2017: Locks & bridges closed on Sundays - 24hrs advanced notice needed on all other days - special arrangements for getting in/out of Vinkeveen. Please contact our sales team so we can assist you further.

Situated in the south of Amsterdam, Vinkeveen is the perfect place to start a cruise in the area. The Vinkeseense Plassen is an important recreational lake for many activities like swimming, diving & yachting.

DAY 2: ?Maarsen

Situated along the Vecht River Maarssen was a key place for the peat-bog in the Middle Age. Later some rich families of Amsterdam have built some country houses nearby that you could still see. The town is now more a suburb of Utrecht but you can still visit historical village of Maarssen-Dorp in the East side of the town.

DAY 3: ?Utrecht

Utrecht is Holland's fourth city and the old section has many attractions. The famous medieval church, St. Martin's Cathedral, is half of its former self as a result of the terrible hurricane of 1674. Canals, lined with terraces and greenery, give the city its charm; it's a nice place for a leisurely walk.

DAY 4: Oudewater

Spend some time to visit the historic protected city center and the famous 'Heksenwaag' (witches' scales) where people accused of witchcraft were offered an honest chance of proving their innocence

DAY 5: ?Gouda
